LEOPOLD'S LONG STRUGGLE ENDED

CONGO TO BE ANNEXED TO BELGIUM.

Transfer Will Mark an Important Epoch For Rich African State—Feared Intervention of Foreign Powers.

Brussels, July 24.—The close of King Leopold's long struggle to stave off annexation of Congo to Belgium and to retain sovereignty over the rich African state for shadows in the agreement reached July 12 between the Belgian and Congo governments, by the terms of which the latter will pass into Belgium. The transfer will mark an important epoch for Congo, as heretofore the civil and military affairs have been under the personal direction of King Leopold and cabinet of Congo officers independent of Belgium. The new regime will make the Belgian government responsible. England and America have favored this.

The De Troos government assumed power in May upon promise to push annexation, but suspicion it made an agreement with the king, who was ready at last to yield on annexation through fear of intervention of outside powers, but who, it is believed, had no intention of permitting the Belgian parliament to pry too close into the Congo administration. The question of responsibility under annexation to be, therefore, the real issue. When Belgium was created in 1830 the Belgian colonies were not forerunners and no provisions were made in the constitution for colonial administration. The Belgian royalists (conservatives, clericals and a fraction of moderates) want a law to convert the present Congo ad into an autonomous government not responsible to parliament. The liberals, radicals also desire Congo autonomy, but insist that unless the administration is made responsible to the Belgian parliament there will be no way of correcting the present abuses. In other words they saw the humanitarian reasons which now exist for annexation would be defeated. Indications are the subject will be thrashed out in parliament during the fall.

CONFERENCE ENDED.

Raleigh, N. C., July 24.—The conference to decide upon plans in the railroad rate cases in which Governor Glenn, counsel employed by the state in prosecuting violations of the state railroad law took part, ended to night without definite results. This because Glenn received a telegram from Assistant Attorney General Sanford that he would be in Raleigh Thursday.

REDUCED RATES

Excursions to Be Run in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois—Railroads to Make Rates.

New York, July 24.—The policy of granting railroad excursion rates for special occasions in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois will be continued. This was decided at a meeting of representatives of trunk lines concerned to day. Recent legislation in states fixed maximum passenger rate at 2 cents per mile and it has been thought that railroads might retaliate, by making the maximum also the minimum rate, so as to abandon frequent excursions. Following the meeting President Underwood, of the Erie road, said:

"Fall excursions are a big feature in these states. Big excursions run to camp meetings, county fairs, harvest home celebrations. The question arose whether it would not be well to discontinue special low excursion rates and put in operation the maximum rate of 2 cents as the law provides.

"Decided, however, not to change present methods, each railroad being allowed to make whatever rates it may choose for this class of traffic."

WILLING TO SETTLE.

Striking Ore Dock Men Submit Offer Through Duluth Mayor.

Duluth, Minn., July 24.—Six hundred and eighty striking ore dock hand submitted, through Mayor Culom, an offer to settle. The question of responsibility under annexation to be, therefore, the real issue. When Belgium was created in 1830 the Belgian colonies were not forerunners and no provisions were made in the constitution for colonial administration. The Belgian royalists (conservatives, clericals and a fraction of moderates) want a law to convert the present Congo ad

A special from Ely, Minn., says Alfred Lundstrum, local organizer for the Western Federation of Miners, was run out of town to day by business men. Lundstrum went into the butcher shop of William Gerjartin and attempted to form an organization of clerks. The clerks informed the owner of the shop and Lundstrum was knocked down several times by the angry butcher. Afterwards he was arrested on complaint of several business men. When taken before the municipal court he promised to leave town and was escorted by a jeering crowd to an afternoon train. Citizens held a mass meeting to night at which armed protection was pledged to all miners who wanted to return to work.

PEACE CONFERENCE.

The Hague, July 24.—Thus far the United States has contributed more than any other country to the success of the peace conference. As was expected the American proposal for the collection of contractual debts will be adopted almost unanimously July 27, while the proposition regarding the permanency of arbitration court, the most important step of the conference, also will be accepted with few amendments. Another American proposition relating to general arbitration, which were offered, not as against principle, but because of difficulty of carrying out plans. The American proposition relating to permanent periodical conference will not be presented until the end of the present conference.

PLEA IN BEHALF OF HAYWOOD

ATTACK ON ORCHARD LIMIT OF SENSATION.

Career of Frank Steunenberg Discussed at Length by Clarence Darrow—Supports Labor Unions and Union Men.

Boise, Idaho, July 24.—The career of Frank Steunenberg, the murdered governor of Idaho, was discussed at length this afternoon by Clarence Darrow in his plea in behalf of William D. Haywood. Justifying articles published in the Miners' magazine, the official organ of the Western Federation of Miners, Darrow said the action of Steunenberg in asking for United States troops to quell riot, establishment of martial law in 1899 unjustifiable and properly stirred up intense feeling in labor circles against the governor. Darrow's argument, unfinished to night, developed into an appeal for labor against capital, denunciation of opposition to union. He held an audience startled, open mouthed as one after another sentiments poured from his lips. His attack on Orchard, and in this respect he surpassed limit of sensation. Three hours were given to Orchard, and only when vituperation and physical force was spent that Darrow turned to James H. Haley, the leading counsel for the state, and Pinkerton detectives for something on which to pour a lesser volume of abuse.

The state of Idaho came in for a large share of Darrow's denunciation for the part it played in prosecution. Culture, education and wealth described as constituting combination against workingman; uneducated and poor must be protected. Darrow sneered at universities.

"And what is a cultured man?" he cried, "But cruel tyrant always." Reaching climax of sympathy for working class and hatred for rich, he assailed constitution of country and cried: "The constitution! The constitution! It is here only to destroy laws made for the benefit of the poor."

Darrow's support of labor unions, union men passionate and eulogy of Western Federation "was eloquent and convincing." He stated that a man cut with the old time cradle ten acres of average oats in a day aroused considerable comment on the part of some elderly farmers, who deem it one of the abuse of the selfish rich, upon Idaho administration.

REPORT RECEIVED

Accident on Battleship Georgia Caused by Delayed Flare Back—Not Had Time to Study Details.

Washington, July 24.—The report of the naval board which investigated the accident in the eight inch turret of the battleship Georgia, was received at the navy department to day. Admiral Byans endorsed the finding. Acting Secretary Newberry said conclusions that the accident was caused by delayed flare, apparently afforded all information of interest to the public. He, however, had no opportunity to study the details of the report. Meanwhile he did not care to say anything as to recommendations by the board for avoidance of similar accidents.

It is understood the board did not clear up condition of the air blast at the breech of the gun. It has been reported that the first person to enter the turret after the accident found the air blast blowing through the gun in which case it is difficult to account for the flare back.

CONFIRM REPORT.

Letters Obtained in Connection With Murder of Rug Merchant.

New York, July 24.—The district attorney's office obtained to day a number of letters in connection with the murder of the rug merchant, Tavshanjan, which showed for several months communications sent to the rich Armenian merchant demanding money for Hunchakist society on pain of death. The letters confirm reports of a widespread conspiracy to get money.

The coroner's jury to day held Bedros Hampartoomian, who killed Tavshanjan on the charge of homicide. The grand jury indicted Hampartoomian for murder in the first degree.

WOMAN ELECTED MAYOR.

Budapest, July 24.—Lure of the United States has brought a curious state of affairs in the little village of Kersova, near Lugos, which, at the last census, had a population of 3,500. The male residents emigrated in batches until the mayor was the only adult male to remain. Finally he also packed up his trunk. As a result the women have just elected a young woman as mayor; other females fill the remainder of municipal offices. The statutes in Hungary provide no female shall hold public office.

ISSUED ORDER.

Berlin, July 24.—A cabinet order, directed against luxurious living prevailing in officers' corps, at Hanover, was issued to day. This order marks another step taken by Emperor William to compel greater simplicity in the army. His majesty believes easy life unfit men for campaigning and that the growing scale of luxury tends to keep comparatively poor men from enlisting officers. At present there are nearly 60 vacancies for officers in the German army. Only the general terms of the order are now known. It refers particularly to entertainments given by officers at mess.

REIGN OF TERROR EXISTS.

Russians are Condemned to Death for Most Trivial Offenses.

St. Petersburg, July 24.—A legal reign of terror has been inaugurated throughout Russia as the result of the mode of military procedure under which there are just 72 hours between identification and execution. At Kiev five mutinous Sappers were executed and another Sapper sentenced. For most trifling offenses men are condemned. At Riga a young man named Aube for the theft of $5, was sentenced to death and two girls accomplices, aged 20 and 12, were executed to hard labor for life. These victims are given the briefest kind of hearing—a hearing that is not as complete as that vouchsafed a minor offender brought into an American police court. The victims are being hanged in droves.

PLACED ON RETIRED LIST.

Washington, July 24.—Lieutenant Colonel Charles E. Ayers, 14th cavalry, was placed on the retired list from date on finding of retiring board that he is incapacitated from active service on account of disability. His retirement is indirectly the result of an interview in which he is reported to have criticized army methods of administering justice as an outcome of the difficulty which Mrs. Ayers had with authorities at West Point over the "overcoat" incident.

Chicago, July 24.—Charles Evans, of Edgewater, won the Eastern Junior golf championship, defeating Albert Sekel, of Riverside, 1 up in final 36 hole match.

Comparative Table Prepared by Herr Gullery Railway Prussian Administration—United States First in Number of Fatalities.

Berlin, July 24.—The Herr Gullery railway Prussian administration has prepared a comparative table of those killed and injured by railways in various countries. It finds the railroads in the United States the most deadly. The United States has more mileage than all Europe, but taking that into consideration the United States holds preeminence. Out of every thousand railway employees, the ratio of injured each year is as follows:

United States	43.5
Switzerland	25.3
England	11.8
Belgium	11.0
Germany	2.4

Out of every thousand employees killed:

United States	26.1
England	12.5
Switzerland	8.2
Russia	7.8
British India	6.7
Belgium	4.1

Gullery finds in the fiscal year of 1902 that 376,500 persons were injured in the United States, of whom 60,000 were employees; 9,800 killed, of whom 3,600 were employees.

In travelers injured France holds the lowest record. The United States shows proportionately forty times as many injured at Russia; twenty-two as many as Italy; twenty as many as England; eight as many as Belgium; four as many as Switzerland; twice as many as Germany.

Miners' Strike on Mesaba Range Range Nearing Conclusion—Governor in Duluth.

Duluth, July 24.—Indications to night are that the miners' strike on Mesaba range may terminate soon, although no one can predict this certainly. The government was told authorities were able to cope with present situation, but sheriff not sanguine over the future. Tomorrow a special train to convey governor, newspaper correspondents at Hibbing. The governor to night would not commit himself further than to say that from this end of the line there appeared no indication of probable trouble.

INQUEST BEGUN.

Trying to Fix Responsibility for Railroad Wreck.

Northville, Mich., July 24.—The inquest to determine the responsibility for thirty-two deaths in the Pere Marquette wreck at Salem began here to day. The only witness to day was Marcus Bonnell, the train dispatcher at Detroit. The stood his ground firmly when Prosecuting Attorney Robinson attempted to attach significance to the admission that he could have stopped the passenger excursion either at Lyon or Salem, knowing the local freight had passed Plymouth. But Bonnell declared he had no thought of such a thing, as he was satisfied that the freight crew had orders giving them the time of the excursion train. The witness admitted he considered it indifferent work that Operator Sayede had done at Plymouth in copying freight train orders.

Attorney Gelmer Kuffel of Grand Rapids, attorney for the Pere Marquette railroad; Attorney F. A. Lattin of Grand Lodge, for Conductor Hamilton of the freight, cross examined Bonnell.

PETRIELLI TO BE ARRESTED.

Hibbing, Minn., July 24.—The latest rumor connected with the strike is that Petrielli, organizer of the Western Federation of Miners, is to be arrested on charge of inciting a riot. It is said he was heard to advise that strikers should kill men going back to work. It is said that while advice was given in Italian, it was understood by officers.

The swearing in of special officers went on last night, about 100 men enlisting to guard men going back to work. Early this morning some miners ventured to return. Not a large number, but the disposition to return hurts the strikers just as the departure of miners from the district hurts the operators.

The miners going away are willing to work, but fear to get mixed up with the strikers. All mines at the Virginia-Eveleth end of the range are reported closed by marching miners. The mines about Hibbing are at surface work only.

DEFENSE SHOWS ILLEGAL VOTES

Were Cast For Complainant in Uncommon Cases—Attorney John J. Reeve Overcome by Heat and Early Adjournment Taken—Election Contest Case Will End Soon.

Trial of the Widmayer-Davis election case was resumed in the circuit court Wednesday. An early adjournment was taken about 4:30 p. m. owing to the fainting spell of Attorney John J. Reeve, who was prosecuted by the heat. He was engaged in examining John C. Pires, when he got up and started to walk away from the attorneys' table. He seemed to stagger and Attorney Haingrove seeing his condition assisted him to a chair and later he was taken into the circuit judge's room and placed near the east window in order that he might have as much air as possible. His head and wrists were bathed and he was soon able to ride to his home on Prospect street. His condition last night was much improved and it is thought that he will be able to go on with the case to day. The heat in the court room was excessive and Mr. Reeve had been doing most of the examination of witnesses and became exhausted.

The court was occupied with hearing evidence for the defense and testimony was introduced to show that John Boland, Jerre Condon, Robert Montgomery, William Layman and S. S. Knoles voted for the Democratic candidate for mayor at the last election and that all of the five voters voted illegally.

As to Boland, testimony showed that he had only lived for 25 or 26 days in the precinct in which he voted.

As to Condon it was shown that he came to Morgan county from Scott county in March and had not lived here for 90 days.

As to Montgomery it was shown that he voted in the wrong precinct.

As to Knoles it was shown that he voted outside of his ward.

As to Layman it was shown that he had moved to Nichols park last March and voted in the Third ward.

Other evidence introduced went to show the large number of men, that frequently boarded at the Nunes home on East Independence avenue and who work for Mr. Nunes.

The defense also showed to the court the fact that many who had been subpoenaed and who it was shown voted at the last election could not be found by searchers and consequently their testimony could not be produced. The defense have about 38 witnesses and about 30 were on the stand yesterday. It seems reasonable to suppose that the case will go before Judge Thompson for his decision by the end of the week. The trial of the case will be continued today unless the condition of Mr. Reeve should lead the defense to ask for a continuance which does not seem likely.

RAILROAD NEWS NOTES

Burlington Operations Near Virden—President Delano of Wabash Passed Through on Inspection Tour—Personal Mention.

It is stated in Virden with authority that he C. B. & Q. are to begin work on the cut-off through the west part of the city by the middle of August and not later than the first of September. The cut-off is to start about a quarter of a mile west of the water tank and take a southeasterly direction and will not connect with the main road again until they reach Girard, according to the new survey made. The old track will still be used for passenger service and according to the statement made by one of the officials that was in the city, a freight depot would be built near the present site of the water tank. He also let out the information that this road soon intended to make this city a division point on the road. It has been a terminal since the company has had control of the road.

It is also stated they intend soon to begin work on building the spur to Thayer to get the coal from the mine there. It is also stated from a reliable source that when the survey was made to Thayer that the same engineers surveyed as far east as Divernon, but it is understood that the Chicago, Milwaukee & Vermillion Coal company had the survey made and it looks as if this company will sink a mine there.

President Delano of the Wabash railroad and a number of the leading officials of the road went through the city Wednesday on a special from Hannibal. It is understood that the party was on an inspection trip and was going to St. Louis by way of Decatur.

Ellis Farnsworth of Chicago, district passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific, was here on business Wednesday. He is a pleasant gentleman and a hustler. He works equally well in hot or cold temperatures and is full of business all the time.

TAKE A VACATION.

Now is the time to take a vacation, get out into the woods, fields and mountains and visit the seashore, but do not forget to take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy along with you. It is almost certain to be needed and cannot be obtained on railroad trains or steamships. It is too much of a risk for anyone to leave home on a journey without it. For sale by all druggists.

WATERING FACILITIES.

The watering facilities on the square for horses are a great blessing these warm days when man's faithful servant suffers so much from heat and hard work. Of course all who know anything of the horse knows how important it is to be careful such weather as the present to see that the horse is not overworked or overheated for in a short time an animal worth many dollars may well nigh be ruined or killed outright.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness it Would Bring to Jacksonville Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back. Bring your hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that Backache pains comes from sick kidneys.

'Twould save much needless woe. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Mrs. B. Brommelhues, living at 329 Wyatt Ave., Lincoln, Ill., says: "Up to three years ago I was a severe sufferer from general kidney disease. My kidneys were often irregular, scanty and then too frequent. My back frequently became lame and if I caught cold it affected my back so that I was unable to do my work. I doctored and used medicines, but with very little benefit until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. I took them as indicated and the result was a complete cure, there being no attack of the old trouble since. Since that time other members of my family have taken them with very satisfactory results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Mrs. C. M. Daniels left Monday for Chicago, where she expects to join her daughter, Miss Emma, and to enjoy a month's outing in the northern states. They will visit with friends in Chicago and LaCrosse, Wis., and expect to spend a week or so among the Minnesota lakes before returning.

MISTAKES WILL OCCUR.

City papers make mistakes as well as small ones some times and have apologies to offer. A short time since the Chicago Tribune printed quite a sensational article concerning a young lady of the big city and had her picture conspicuously displayed at the head of a column. The next day an humble apology was forthcoming, the paper stating that the information came from a source supposed to be entirely reliable. Mistakes will occur where there are fifty or a hundred men employed to secure facts as well as in places where there are but few.

SPECIAL FOR THIS WEEK—ANY ARTICLE IN OUR WEST WINDOW 50c. RAYHILL.

The cradling story published in the Journal recently wherein it was stated that a man cut with the old time cradle ten acres of average oats in a day aroused considerable comment on the part of some elderly farmers, who deem it one of the largest stories they have heard yet.

But Charles Jones of Lynnville has a reputation for truth which is beyond question and the narrative will have to stand. The Journal has been waiting for another like it from some other source.

All coal consumers wanting the best grade of coal at the lowest prices should call on or telephone Jacksonville Coal Co., Ill. 242; Bell 717.

From all the information and observation possible to obtain or make the order at Nichols park is now the best. Two policemen are there on duty every night and great care is taken to have the place such that ladies and children may always feel perfectly safe there and free to go and enjoy all they can of the moving pictures or any other attraction which may be on the docket. It is the intention of the commission to see that the park is always a place where the best of order is preserved and every effort to that end will be put forth.

GRACE SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC.

The annual picnic of Grace M. E. Sunday school was held Wednesday at Dunlap Springs, east of the city. plenty of carryalls were provided for the people, while a number went out in their private conveyances. They left the church at 9:30 o'clock and the drive there and back was made without an accident. Plenty of good things to eat were taken along and with the ice cream, cake and lemonade which was sold on the grounds a veritable feast was enjoyed.

During the day various games were played, among them a ball game that proved an interesting part of the day's outing.

Over 150 took advantage of the occasion and there were scholars of the Sunday school in the crowd ranging from the ages of 4 years to 80 years.

The committee in charge did every thing in their power to make the day one of pleasure and all seemed to enjoy themselves immensely. The courteous treatment received from the drivers of the carryalls was the subject of much comment. The picnickers reached the city at 7 o'clock.

WILL DELIVER ANNUAL ORATION.

Rev. J. C. Nate of Grace M. E. church, left Wednesday for Jamestown, Va., where he will deliver the annual oration of the Sigma Chi fraternity which meets at the exposition grounds Aug. 2. The last meeting of the society was held two years ago in Cincinnati, Ohio, when over 500 members were in attendance.

After leaving the exposition Rev. Mr. Nate expects to go to East Northfield, Mass., where he will attend the convention of Christian workers at the Moody summer institute.

This institute was founded by D. L. Moody and it is a time when both the leading ministers from America and the old world meet together. Among the speakers will be Rev. F. B. Meyer, Rev. G. Campbell Morgan, Rev. R. S. McArthur and Rev. C. L. Goodell and a host of others.

The convention will open Aug. 2. He will be absent from the city for three weeks.

The successful bidder is to enter into contract for one year and give bond for the proper fulfillment of said contract.

The board of education reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

WANTED TO BE SURE.

A dealer in horses, (possibly in Jacksonville and possibly not) was exhibiting a safe family animal to a prospective purchaser, who observed that the beast every little while stopped of its own accord and at last asked the reason.

"Well, I'll tell you," said the dealer, "he is so afraid that he will not hear the word whoa from his driver that he stops every once and a while to listen for it and you see how safe he is as a family horse."

The man thought so too and bought the creature and found him all right, only a bit tired constitutionally.

A NEW CHAUTAUQUA.

The second annual assembly of the Illinois State Epworth League Chautauqua will be held on their new grounds at Havana, Ill., July 25, to August 4. The program is one of the best, and includes Governors Deneen, LaFollette and Hanly, W. J. Bryan, "Billy" Sunday, Capt. Jack Crawford, Florence Ben O'Leil, The Elma B. Smith Co., and many others.

The Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis railway will sell excursion tickets at two cents per mile for the occasion. For time of trains and complete program call on agents or address E. A. Williams, general passenger agent, St. Louis.

THE EVANGEL.

The July number of the Evangel, published by Grace M. E. church is out and is a very unique production. It contains a cut of the entrance to the church and terms it the Cranston Doorway on account of the church being built in 1872 under the pastorate of Bishop Earl Cranston. It also contains an account of the funeral service of the late Dr. John Watson in his old church at Liverpool, taken from the British weekly.

BAD DRINKING WATER A COMMON CAUSE OF SICKNESS.

One of the most common causes of sickness is bad drinking water. In some parts of the country where shallow wells are the principal source of supply, diarrhoea is quite common, and Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in demand. One or two doses of this remedy will check the attack and prevent any serious consequences. When diarrhoea is prevalent the source of supply of drinking water should be looked to. The remedy is for sale by all druggists.

NOTICE.

Knights of Columbus will meet at their hall at 8 o'clock sharp for the purpose of attending the funeral of Brother John Sloane.

A LAND MARK GONE.

The removal of the frame building on the southeast corner of College avenue and South Main street takes away a structure which was one of the landmarks of the city, though not by any means as old as many which have disappeared, or even yet remain. The building was originally a part of the structure used by the school for feeble minded in the west part of the city and when that institution was removed to Lincoln, (something which the people in the capital of Logan county fondly hoped would make them all wealthy) Mr. Guy bought the house in question and moved it to the place mentioned, where he occupied it as a store for a while. Later the occupants were Guy & Jones and then Jones occupied it himself for a while. Another tenant was John Bennett, now on the Pacific coast, and afterward F. J. Degen carried on business there for some time. Moore & Whalen were business men there and Mr. Pocock and finally the enterprising and energetic Homer Haxby, who built up such a fine trade there. Mr. Fitch is now erecting a building which will make a rather better appearance than did the one on the ground previously and it will be a decided improvement to the place, as is the one opposite. Jacksonville has not in it the elements of a boom and no one need expect to become suddenly rich buying real estate in the place, but it is a city which has in it all the elements of steady growth and sure prosperity to a reasonable degree and property well located will always be a good investment.

BIDS FOR COAL.

Sealed bids will be received by the city clerk of the city of Jacksonville up to 12 o'clock noon, July 31, for No. 2 soft screened nut coal for the city light plant for the ensuing year. The successful bidder is to enter into contract to give bond for the proper fulfillment of said contract.

The city council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

The Corona Inner Player Piano..

The newest, latest, most complete instrument of its kind. It embodies the most advanced development in the design and construction of the combination piano and player. In simplicity, strength, durability and efficiency it represents the highest degree of excellence that modern methods have to this time, produced.

It has not only the advantages offered by other approved instruments of this type, but also many new and exclusive features which add wonderfully to its efficiency and to the ease and control of the operator, permitting the widest possible range for individual musical expression. By means of ITS TRANSPOSING DEVICE the music can be changed at once to higher or lower keys, as may be desired and to instantly overcome any fault of alignment caused by swelling or shrinking of the paper roll. ITS TEMPO LEVER controlling the pneumatic air supply, together with its SOLO AID device makes possible the individualizing of a melody or solo part in any register. These are only a part of the latest improvements found only in "THE CORONA," and which places it in the very front rank as a means of performing all classes of music correctly.

We invite you to call and see and here "THE CORONA."

Beat the tomtoms, sound the he-gag, clap the cymbals, ring the bells, blow the whistles, turn in the fire alarm, get out the police patrol and let a rigorous search be made for the fan who declared that Manager Belt's Lunatics had sinned past redemption.
The great gods of gloom that have been hanging over admirers of Big Chief Belt and his tribe of ball tossers has been in a measure dispersed.
Those who thought that the White Father had departed forever from the camp of the Jacksonvillians are beginning to have hopes that he will return. Old-Grouch-Face-Afraid-of-His-Shadow, Little-Big-Knocker-Fan,
and Can't-Please-Anybody-Kicker have been having their inning. They have monopolized the camp fire confessions until Satchem Henry had almost made up his mind to call a council of chiefs to search out the braves who were dissatisfied with the war in the enemy's country, when news arrived at sunset last night that the Snappers had been put to rest with great turvy with Old-Steady-Sleuth McCarthy leading the charge. Those who got scalps were Copeland, Moran (2), Hagel, Roland, Berte (2), McCarthy (2).

Along with the news of the victory came a fleet footed messenger saying that the bow strings of the tribe had been warped by the heat rays and when the members of the tribe shot their arrows they fell short without doing any harm. The messenger said that many scalps had been lost in this manner, but that the members of the team had been doing the war dance to appease the wrath of the sun god. He said that with their tepees pitched where the last victory was won they would remain for two more days, when they would return to their native hunting grounds for a fresh supply of war paint. The messenger said that the braves had found the Iowa country very rough to travel and several times the whole tribe had been nearly submerged, so great was the onslaught, but that after each defeat they would retreat to cover and next morning would blaze a new trail through the forest. They expect to be pursued by the savage Ottumwans and the bold Oskaloosans and will fight hard to prevent capture while on their own camping grounds. Great numbers of squaw men are expected to gather on the grand stand hill sides for these battles and much wampum is expected to flow into Satchem Henry's treasury.

How We Won.

Marshalltown, July 24.—(Special.)
—Jacksonville took a brace to day and downed Snapper Kennedy's team in easy fashion. McCarthy pitched an excellent game and was strong with men on bases. The players behind him gathered in nine hits, Mc-Carthy getting two of the nine. Three of the Lunatics, Hagel, Moran and Berte, hit for two bases and Copeland, Moran and Roland each were credited with a stolen base. Kent walked six men, the same number that he walked in the shut out game pitched in Jacksonville, but the passes proved more costly than on the former occasion. Jacksonville scored in the second and seventh innings, and made two in the eighth. Marshalltown scored in the sixth. The errors of the Lunatics were confined to the infield, Hagel, Berte and Hughes each getting one, and Belt having a passed ball. Moran and McCarthy played a fast game for Jacksonville. Moran had five put outs, one assist and made two hits.
McCarthy pitched a winning game,
made two hits and accepted six chances without a bobble.

No Game at Waterloo.

Waterloo, July 24.—(Special.)—

Rain prevented the game between Quincy and Waterloo to day.

Burlington, 3; Oskaloosa, 0.

Burlington, July 24.—(Special.)—

Witt, Burlington's new pitcher, had the Quaker batsmen completely at his mercy to day. He pitched a no hit, no run game. Both teams made four errors.

The following table shows the work of the Jacksonville baseball team for the last six games played.

The team has for these games a batting average of 104 and a fielding average of 936. The cause of the long losing streak was inability to hit.

From the above it can be seen that Belt has not made a hit in any of the games played, that Copeland

and Pratt have only made two, and that Hagel and Hughes have been hitting every other game. Berte,

Moran, Roland and McCarthy have been the main stays with the willow since the club left home.

Manager F. F. Shults of the Kewance independent baseball team has made application for admission into the Iowa State league, providing Marshalltown should drop out. Kewance is a fast independent baseball club and the record for attendance last season shows 28,000 paid admissions. If they do not get in this year it is probable that they will make application for admission at the fall meeting of the league.

Although Waterloo heads the list

in the standing of the teams, President S. L. Vale of the association of that city stated that he doubted very much whether Waterloo would have a professional ball team next year. If the fans didn't ginger up a little, he stated that he knew of two towns

who were just waiting to take her place. The attendance on the games of that place has been very poor and the reserve fund is being gradually drained. It seems a shame that such a swift bunch of ball tossers should be so little appreciated in their own town.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Home Hints.

The continual wearing of gloves at night causes the hands to assume a yellowish tinge. An occasional wearing is all right.

Large pores on the nose and chin

may be reduced by applying several times a day a lotion made of lemon juice and glycerin or one of alum and water.

After using borax and rosewater for the removal of tan and freckles a little cold cream should be applied, as borax

makes the skin dry.

A cure for hicoughs is to inhale as much air as the lungs will hold and retain it as long as possible. If one inhalation is not enough, repeat as often as necessary.

A simple mixture of equal parts of lemon juice, honey and cologne is an excellent lotion for whitening the hands if they are abnormally red. Apply at night, rubbing well into the skin.

Bran Water For Cleaning.

Few people know the value of bran water for household use. For cleaning woodwork, and particularly paint, it is invaluable, for not only does it remove all dirt, but it also leaves the paint in as good condition as new, as it does not affect the varnish or finish,

as does an alkali. Colored goods, prints, etc., which under ordinary conditions fade in washing, will never lose their color or newness if washed in bran water. In washing the hair it will be found a thorough soap cleanser,

and the hair will retain its natural color and appear glossy. The water is easily prepared. Fill an ordinary salt bag with bran, place it in a pan or other receptacle, then pour hot water over same, and it is ready for use.

The hands never suffer from the use of this water. On the contrary, they are softened and whitened.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

Japanese Statesman-Sailor.

Admiral Baron Gembel Yamamoto
of the Imperial Japanese navy, who is visiting this country, was minister of marine during the war with Russia.
He was the guiding spirit of the Japanese fleets during that period, as much because of his courage and decision as that he was a member of the supreme council of war.

Baron Yamamoto was fifty-four years old last September and is perhaps one of the youngest full admirals in the world. He is a graduate of the Japanese Naval college and first won distinction in the war with China. For his conduct in the naval battle of the Yalu he was promoted, after which his rise in the service was rapid. In 1900 he became a member of the imperial cabinet. The organization of the Japanese navy on its present basis is accredited largely to the constructive abilities of the admiral.

A Marriage de Convenience.

Gelett Burgess at the recent dinner of the American Booksellers' association of New York said: "I once knew a San Francisco who married a girl for her money. She was not a pretty girl, and as time passed and love cooled she developed a rather tart tongue.

"One day her husband bought with his quarter's allowance a twenty horsepower automobile. He took the car home gayly and brought his wife out to the front door to look at it. She gave it one sneering glance and then said:

"It's very nice, but if it hadn't been for my money it wouldn't be here."
"Well, Mamie," said the husband quickly, "if it hadn't been for your money you wouldn't be here yourself."

Praised by Roosevelt.

The bravery of Lieutenant Colonel Ayres of the United States army, whose wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Fairfax Ayres, has incurred the displeasure of officers of the Eighth cavalry, is unquestioned.

President Roosevelt and Lieutenant Colonel Ayres were in the Cuban campaign together. The president was lieutenant colonel of the rough riders.

One day the Tenth cavalry became involved in a skirmish, and Lieutenant Colonel Ayres, who was in command, distinguished himself for bravery.

Colonel Roosevelt rode to his side
when the smoke of battle had cleared away and, after saluting, exclaimed:

WEDDING SERVICE IN SPENCER, NEB

Marriage of Mr. Frank Huntley and Miss Clara Clark—Both Young People Former Residents of Jacksonville—Will Reside in Chicago.

Mr. Frank Huntley and Miss Clara Clark were married Sunday, July 14, at the home of the bride's mother in Spencer, Nebraska, the ceremony being performed at the Methodist parsonage at that place. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Belle Clark, who formerly lived here. She was at one time a student at the Academy and later took a course in the Passavant hospital training school for nurses. She is a niece of Mrs. H. M. Pratt of this city.

The groom is the son of W. F. Huntley of West State street and until about five years ago made this city his home. For some time he has been in the employ of the Neuman & Co wholesale tailoring house of Chicago as a designer and cutter. Mr. and Mrs. Huntley will reside in Chicago.

IN BAD CONDITION.

Des Moines, Iowa, July 24.—While striking car men of Rock Island road joined the shop employees at a picnic to day, a train after train passed through Des Moines with uncleaned coaches. Windows were dirty, orange and banana peels mingled with dust on the seats and the intense heat made day coaches anything but comfortable. No preparations are made to fill the strikers' places.

FINED FOR BURYING BODY.

Danville, Ill., July 24.—Because he buried the body of his friend, Jake Jerokine, in consecrated ground during the absence of the priest from the neighborhood, Dominiko Journo was fined $10 and costs in the local court and ordered to remove the body at once. The burial took place in the Catholic cemetery at Westville, near here.

July.

Far, far away, beyond the ripening wheat,
The forests stand in mantles of soft blue,
While, wreathed in music, near and heavenly sweet,
A lark soars singing from the meadow rue.

Along the roads, where sheltering sumacs grow,
A few wild roses linger and defy
The bright midsummer, but the elders' snow
Has melted in the sunshine of July.

Through fallow fields the scarlet fire weeds flame
Like little Ghebre shrines among the grass,
And with their blazing blossoms worship claim
From all the pilgrim butterflies that pass.

A drowsy languor tinctures all the air;
And in the garden, nodding o'er the wall,
Tall hollyhocks weave scented shadows where Fragile stems red poppy petals fall.

Small, spiky pinks about the dooryard shine,
Bright orange lilies sway along the walks,
And through the fence bold ragged robins twine
And clamber up the tallest sunflower stalks.

A warm breeze stirs the cedars and floats through
The feathery willows, while within the sky
As white as wind flower buds against the blue,
The summer clouds go slowly blowing by.

So honey sweet the earth is, and so pure
The tender heaven bending overhead,
I think no heartache here could long endure,
Nor any pain remain uncomforted.

ECLIPSE OF MOON

Heated Term Over and Settled
Weather May Be Expected—Obscuration of Luna Plainly Visible.

An eclipse of the moon occurred last night and was plainly visible. The phenomenon covered about half of the face of Luna and the time of the eclipse was as follows:

Entered penumbra at 7:59 p. m.
Entered shadow at 9:04 p. m.

Middle of eclipse, 10:22 p. m.
Left shadow, 11:41 p. m.

Left penumbra, 12:46 a. m.

This is the fourth eclipse of the year 1907, only two of which were visible in North America. The moon was in partial eclipse Jan. 29.

A lunar eclipse is caused by the moon passing through the earth's shadow and in ancient times was regarded as an evil omen.

Just what connection the present eclipse and the heated term and numerous rains may have is not positively known by the astronomers but it is a fair presumption that the phenomenon has not been without its influence in causing both. The eclipse will probably mark the end of the excessive heat and frequent rains and settled weather may be expected. The eclipse was preceded by a heavy wind that blew quite cool from the north and in neighboring towns in the north half storms were reported. In the bottoms west of Jacksonville the fattened corn showed plainly the effect of the hail.

Nature usually gives a respite when human endurance seems to have reached its limit. Wednesday was the worst day yet. The humidity was intense and the thermometer registered 94 in the shade according to George Hall, the volunteer observer in Alexander, and many local thermometers registered 95.

The cool breeze that was so gladly welcomed about seven o'clock was preceded by lightning and thunder rumblings and more rain was feared. The wind came in place of the storm, the heavens cleared and many watched the eclipse.

The July of 1907 is said to resemble the same month of the year of 1875, when great humidity and copious rains were common.

Farmers have been greatly interrupted in their work by the rains and dry weather will be welcomed.

Jen pumps the Fight Fakirs.

Jim Jeffries put his seal of disapproval on pugilistic fakirs the other day when he said:

"I shall never meet a man who has been mixed up in any crooked prize fight. The boxing game in the country will be killed if managers allow themselves to be imposed upon by these self confessed fakirs. There is no reason why bouts should not be fought on the level.

"Pugilists nowadays are getting more money for their fights than the old timers received, and twenty years ago a scandal in championship contests never was hinted at. The fighters were afraid to take a chance then, as the public would never go out to see a battle between men whose reputations had been tarnished by suspicious deals.

"If I am ever called upon to defend my title, it will not be against a man who has been a party to a prearranged fight. I have as much contempt for these fellows as the general public has, and I will not hesitate to expose any fakirs if I ever learn about their crooked affairs. I would rather fight a dandy than take on any of that class of cowards."

Hints For Ring Reform.

Under a heading "Remedy Suggested by the O'Brien-Burns Fiasco" one of our exchanges prints the following:

"The gambling feature must be eliminated and the game placed on a pure sportsmanship basis.

"Cut the number of rounds to such a standard that in every second of a fight the men must put forth their best efforts or have the match declared no contest.

"Cleanse and keep clean the club or clubs handling fights, so that all attempts at shady work may be nipped in the bud.

"As a final resort pass an ordinance prohibiting boxing if there is the least taint of scandal."

And after that the millennium!

Lawson to Take Ball Team to Cuba.
Manager A. W. Lawson of the Reading (Pa.) Atlantic league ball team, is making arrangements to take the club on a trip to Cuba at the close of the present season. He has been in communication with several baseball promoters at that place, who want to arrange a series of games for the team.

Fifteen years ago Manager Lawson took an all American club to Cuba, where it met with success. He says that, besides being a vacation for his players, he will make lots of money, as baseball pays in Cuba.

Jack Grim Still on Earth.
Jack Grim, Amos Rustie's first catcher, who had much to do with bringing out that great pitcher, intends to get back in the harness. He will play with the Indianapolis Gun club team, under the management of Lew Mazur, who formerly managed the Reserves.

Grim is of the opinion that his arm has come back. He formerly caught for the Indianapolis and Brooklyn National league teams.

SQUIRE REID'S OFFICE.

Not many in the city perhaps know that when the old court house stood on the square, Hon. E. P. Kirby's office was in the apartments now occupied by Squire Reid. It was there that the judge began his career as an abstractor of the county's records, moving later to rooms in the court house and further on to the place he now has. The latter building was originally erected by Uncle Samuel Cobb as a carriage repository and shop and considerable business was done there after its completion in 1869 or the early part of 1870. Later Mr. Cobb moved away from the city and the structure was used by D. W. Fairbank and later Fairbank & Wood as an agricultural implement store and finally was secured by Fred C. Coe as a china store, which later on was bought and is now managed by J. H. Rayhill, Jr.

WORK PROGRESSING.

The bricks on the south side of the East State street pavement have been laid as far down from the square as the post office. The north side will be ready for the brick laying shortly.

COAL BIDS.

Bids will be received at the Illinois School for the Deaf until 11 o'clock a. m. Saturday, July 27, 1907, for supplying the school with coal from Aug. 1, 1907, to July 31, 1908. Copies of specifications may be procured from the undersigned. The privilege of rejecting any or all bids is reserved.

S.S.S. PURIFIES THE BLOOD

There is no other part of our physical system upon which so much depends as upon the blood. The muscles, nerves, bones, sinews, skin, and other portions of the body are sustained, developed and enabled to perform their different duties, because they are supplied with nourishment and healthful properties through the circulation. In various ways the blood becomes contaminated and polluted. A sluggish, inactive condition of the system, and torpid state of the agencies of bodily waste, will leave the refuse and waste matter of the body to sour and form uric and other acids, which are absorbed into the blood and Rheumatism, or some itching, disfiguring skin disease is the result. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, blotches, pimples, etc., all show that some humor has taken root in the circulation and rendered it sour and unfit for nourishing the body. There is scarcely any disease which cannot be traced to the blood. Often the disease-tainted blood of parents is handed down to children and their lives are a continual battle against disease in some form, usually of a scrofulous nature. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., are all deep-seated blood troubles, and until this vital fluid is purified they cannot be cured. For all blood diseases S. S. S. is the best remedy ever put upon the market. This great medicine is made of roots, herbs and barks of recognized blood-purifying and building-up properties. It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, impurities and humors, supplies the system with the healthful properties it needs and completely cures blood diseases of every kind. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., because it purifies the blood. Book on the blood and medical advice free.

STOESSEL'S TIMIDITY.

General Smirnoff writes of General Stoessel's conduct during the siege of Port Arthur: "The timidity of Stoessel was such that he never appeared in the fighting lines, but he abused the population as 'poltroons' and 'rascals.' When in September several shells fell near our lodgings, Stoessel moved to the house of General Volkoff, in another part of the town. His flowers and part of his household things had been moved when a shell struck Volkoff's house. The things were then taken back to the old place. Toward the end of November the enemy began shelling us from eleven inch mortars, and Stoessel again removed, this time to the vicinity of the barracks of the Tenth regiment, which was out of range. There he lived in perfect safety until the enemy was able to shell this quarter also. Thereupon he hastened to surrender. Such pusillanimity made him the constant laughing-stock not only of the officers, but of the rank and file and civilians as well; but whenever he caught any one ridiculing him he took the crudest vengeance."

How to Be Saved.

The life guard, lying on the white sand, yawned.

"We guards are put through a course of sprouts each season," he said. "I think that bathers should be put through such a course too. It is as necessary to know how to be saved as to know how to save. Take, for instance, the life buoy, the circular one in general use. How many people know how to get into it? Hardly any. When you are in trouble, and this buoy is thrown to you, you shouldn't lift it up and try to put it over your head, for that only causes you to sink deeper, to swallow more water, maybe to drown. You should simply, with both hands, take hold of the side of the buoy nearest you and press down upon it with all your might. Then the farther side will fly up in the air, topple over and, descending, ring you neatly, and, presto—you are safe."—Exchange.

An Odd Clock.

In the barber shop at the Ten Eyck hotel, in Albany, there is a clock which causes no end of amusement. It is so arranged that the hands mark time and revolve in exactly the opposite direction and manner from a normal clock's. First year legislators and others new to the place when they enter the barber shop invariably stand gazing at it with an air of complete mystification for some little time. Then they turn to some one and ask some such question as, "Is that twisted or am I?" The varying effect on different persons keeps the barber shop in an intermittent state of laughter and merriment. It is not until the customer mounts into one of the chairs and faces the mirror wall before him that he usually understands the reason for having the clock built on the reverse principle.—Baltimore Sun.

Berlin's Big Scheme.

A remarkable project for municipal improvement is reported from Berlin. The plan is to widen by twenty feet the narrowest part of the well known Friedrichstrasse, second only to Unter den Linden, and to replace the present insignificant shops and houses by magnificent galleries and hotels, and the like, making the street one of the world's finest thoroughfares. This of itself does not carry a vivid impression, but when it is added that the scheme involves an outlay of $37,500,000 the scale of the projected improvement is indicated.

OUIDA AND HER DOGS

Novelist, in Dire Poverty, Still Feeds Her Pets.

FOUR DAYS WITHOUT FOOD.

Famous Woman Writer, Pensioned by British Government, Spent a Night on Seashore—Made a Fortune, but Spent Money Recklessly—Once Kept Thirty Dogs and Forty Horses.

There was general surprise and curiosity when it was announced that Miss Louisa de la Ramée, the novelist (Ouida), has had a pension of $750 granted to her from the civil list, says a special cable dispatch from London to the New York Sun. It was known that she was formerly wealthy, having made a fortune from her writings. It is even a greater surprise now to learn that the venerable author—she is seventy-eight—has been lately in such poverty that sometimes she was compelled to go without food.

The Florence correspondent of the London Daily Mail sends a story of her recent life. He says that until two years ago Miss de la Ramée occupied a splendid three story villa at Lucra. She was known as "The Lady of the Dogs," as she invariably had thirty, and was always seen with a number of them around her. Her intense fondness for dogs, with a certain megalomania, caused her on one occasion to give a meal of milk, bread and meat to every dog in Lucra. She paid the bill for this extraordinary banquet willingly, although heavy debts were crowding upon her through her utter ignorance of the value of money.

It is stated that on several occasions at about this time she went without food for a whole day, remarking that it was sufficient if her dogs ate. Frequently her maid appealed to the owner of the villa for supper for her mistress. A dispute with her landlord about some furniture led to three lawsuits, which Ouida won, but the costs further crippled her purse, and her landlord then turned her out.

After staying at one or two places she went to a first class hotel at Viareggio. Again thoughtless expenditures exhausted her resources, and her plight was such that last September she passed a night under the trees on the sea front. The remaining few of her large family of beloved dogs were at her side. When her maid's mother found her at 5 o'clock in the morning on the beach she took her to her humble cottage at Monti and kept her there for several months.

But that homeless night on the cold beach caused Ouida to lose the sight of her left eye and also brought about deafness, from which she has never recovered. In February last she went to another hotel at Viareggio, where she stayed until July 6, when, being again in financial straits, she went with her ex-maid's mother to the village of Massarosa, five miles distant, where she is now living in a milkman's squalid cottage.

She rarely goes outdoors and has few visitors. Her health is broken down. She eats little. She wears white dresses of silk muslin, with long trains and white gloves extending far up the arms. Last winter she had a new black dress with a long train. Her passion for dogs is not diminished, although now she has only three, Rufi, Goldoni and Neroloni.

She has been heard to say that life would be hopeless misery without her dogs. It is her fear of endangering their lives by a change of climate that prevents her from returning to England. In her happier days, when she was able to give away and spend money with impulsive generosity and disregard of arithmetic, she had besides thirty dogs at least forty horses. It is known that once since her sufferings began she went without food for four days through sheer want.

Ouida in poverty is almost incredible to those who remember the vogue of some of her novels. It is not so long since everybody was reading "Strathmore," "Chandos," "Under Two Flags" and the many other works of one of the most prolific of English novelists. It is probably by the last named work, published in 1867, that Ouida is best known. A comparatively recent theatrical success in New York, "Under Two Flags," was Paul M. Potter's dramatization of this book. Besides the three mentioned "Triloria," published in 1869, "Two Little Wooden Shoes," in 1874, and "In Maremma," in 1882, are books of hers which were eagerly read. "Lady Marabou's Troubles" is accounted a very clever book of short stories. The more recent output falls off in quality. All told there are forty-one novels from the pen of Mlle. de la Ramée. The best of her works were remarkable for the length of time that they held public favor.

When Ouida was about twenty years old she went from Bury St. Edmunds, where she was born, to London with her mother and grandmother and not long afterward began her writing career. Her pen name was her own childish mispronunciation of her name, Louisa. She lived in Italy for many years. Two or three years ago she attracted considerable attention by her public utterances on social and moral topics. The somewhat straitened tone she adopted was in odd contrast with the boldness of some of her novel writing.

CONDENSED STORIES.

Rich Niggard Posed as a Philanthropist, Yet Kept His Coin.

A Philadelphian said of Miss Anna T. Jeanes, who has given $1,000,000 for negro education in the south:

"Miss Jeanes is a splendid philanthropist. To a good cause she is generosity itself. Giving promptly and freely, she has no sympathy with niggards. I once heard her tell a story about a niggardly rich man of her childhood.

"This man visited a school and made an address. At the end he called a little boy up to him and said,

"My lad, have you a purse?"

"No, sir."

"I'm sorry," said the rich man. "If you had had a purse I should have given you a dime to put in it."

"This man was scheduled to speak again at the school the next month,

"HAVE YOU A PURSE, SON?"

and when he came the boys were prepared for him. An empty purse lay hid in every little pair of trousers.

"And, sure enough, at the end of his speech the man called another boy and said:

"Have you a purse, son?"

"Yes, sir," was the eager answer.

"I am glad of it," said the other. "If you hadn't I should have given you a dime to buy one with."

Stillman and the Cook.

James Stillman, president of the National City bank, which is the great Rockefeller institution and the biggest one in America, has a wonderful mind for detail, and he carries it into unexpected places. A banking friend who took dinner with him some time ago at his home was much surprised after the excellent dinner had been served to see Mr. Stillman take a printed menu card and go over it, making careful notations with a lead pencil. When he had finished he seemed to feel that his guest must be puzzled at what he had done and tossed the card over to him. After each course Mr. Stillman had written a criticism or a word of praise. The soup was marked "excellent," the entree was marked "a splendid piece of beef, but a little overdone," the salad was described as having "too much vinegar," and the pudding was "very excellent."

"I have to do that," said Mr. Stillman. "The cooks are liable to get careless, and anyhow it is worth while to let them know when they are pleasing you. It pleases them to know that you like their success, and they are pleased to get your criticisms."

Mr. Stillman believes that the way to have a cook prepare what one really likes is to let the cook know.—New York American.

"A Luscious Lemon."

John W. Gates and John A. Drake, the Damon and Pythias of the Waldorf-Astoria, a few evenings ago handed what Gates called a "luscious lemon" to a callow youth with a large ego and a backwoods origin, says the New York American.

This youth affected to be of the elite, and in an attempt to prove that he hobnobbed with the royal ones of finance he invited two friends to the hotel. Passing through the lobby, the callow youth said:

"Why, there's Gates and Drake!" (This sotto voce.)

Then walking up to Gates, whom he had met and who knew his habits, he said:

"Won't you come and join us in a drink?"

"Yes," said Gates, and with Drake they went to the cafe.

Gates ordered a type of brandy that costs $4, and Drake had a yearning for a cigar that costs just $4. The gentle youth with the thirst for admiration got the check, and the waiter thought he'd have to send a call to Bellevue hospital.

ROCKEFELLER ON GOLF.

Oil King Gets Enthusiastic and Speaks Highly of Egan's Play.

John D. Rockefeller, who has attended the amateur championship golf tournament on the Euclid links at Cleveland, O., every day, has grown enthusiastic over the different plays and players. He followed H. Chandler Egan the other day, and a stenographer followed him, taking down his conversation verbatim, says a Cleveland dispatch to the New York Tribune. It was printed as follows:

"I have long been a devotee of the game of golf. I thoroughly believe there is no sport in existence which does so much to develop in man his best traits of character. It brings out all that is good in him and kills off the bad. It promotes right living, and, after all, that is the one thing we must all work to bring about.

"Egan is in perfect form today. Look at that splendid drive from the second tee. There it goes on to the green, only a few feet from the flag. Fine work!

"Did you see how easy he made his swing? Not a bit of wasted effort. The carry through was splendid, and this is what gives him the distance. He is his caution in every shot that he takes. He plans just what he expects to do, and then he has the nerve and the skill to make his plan successful. He entirely lacks one of the greatest faults of most of our golfers. He never takes his eye off the ball. I like his face. His eye is clear and his hand steady. He has self control. You do not see him lose his temper when he is unfortunate enough to get into difficulty. His play out of trouble is marvelous. Now he is about to try for that difficult put. I wish people would not talk at such a time. There is nothing that so disconcerts a player as talking when he is about to make a shot. Golf etiquette demands absolute silence at such a time.

"Mr. Egan has remarkable judgment as to distance and direction. See that shot, for instance. It was a perfect approach. He uses irons as well as any one I have ever seen play. He has a difficult put for a three. It will be too bad if he misses. Oh, that was magnificent! He has dropped his ball twenty feet from the hole. There, he has missed a three foot put by two inches. But that was not lack of skill. He was unfortunate.

"There's a beautiful drive. See that brassie on the green in two. He has a ten foot put to be at bogie. Hurrah, he made it! That was great. You do not know how pleased I am."

CUTTING UP A ROYAL YACHT

The Hildegard, of Teakwood, Being Made Up Into Souvenirs.

The famous yacht Hildegard, in her day one of the finest pleasure craft afloat, built in 1874 at the order of the Prince of Wales, now king of Great Britain, at a cost of $80,000, is being cut to pieces in Frank R. Long's dock, on the Hackensack river, at Hackensack, N. J., says the New York Tribune. Mr. Long bought her in December, 1905, from Blakely Hall for about $7,000. He thought she would make a freight steamer on the Hackensack, but her keel was too deep for the channel. Her hull, made of Chinese teakwood, is being cut up into souvenirs, and one will be sent to King Edward.

Soon walking sticks, collar boxes and paper knives will be doing duty in many Hackensack homes, all made from the hull of King Edward's former pleasure craft. The steering wheel of the yacht now adorns the wall in the new cafe of the Hackensack Golf club, of which Mr. Long is a member, and another portion of the boat is used as a bridge across Coles brook, on the second hole of the golf grounds. Mr. Long has preserved the prince's stateroom and will have it inserted as it stands into his new home and will use it as a den.

The Hildegard was sold to George Gould for $35,000. Next she was owned by Senator B. M. Whitlock, who paid $21,000 for her. He had her fitted with compound engines in 1897. Blakely Hall bought her for $17,000. The yacht was 127 feet over all, 102 feet water line and 8 feet beam. She was cutter rigged, and her deep keel, which required nearly fifteen feet of water, was a great drawback to her success as a pleasure craft in American waters.

Giant Cigars for the President.

Desiring to show to President Roosevelt his appreciation of assistance given to him in the past, Raphael A. Guillema Dimayuga, a young native Filipino, recently placed an order with a cigar manufacturer at Middletown, N. Y., for a special brand of 200 cigars to be sent to the president at Sagamore Hill, says a Middletown special to the New York Herald. The cigars are to be clear Havana, eight inches long and larger around than the ordinary cigar. Dimayuga is employed in the Erie freight station at Middletown, having come to this country to learn railroad-ing in all its branches.

Hotel For Cats.

A large number of prominent society women in Washington have banded together to provide a suitable and attractive home for cats, says a Washington special to the Philadelphia Record. It is intended to purchase a tract of land and build a handsome home if this is found possible, but if not a house fitted for the purpose will be bought. The chief use of the proposed villa will be for boarding handsome and expensive cats belonging to persons, who regularly leave Washington, who at present either have to take their pets along on long journeys or stay at home.

Some Ladies

Are blessed from girlhood with a clear, rosy complexion. They are the admiration of all. Yet very often those are the very ladies who give the greatest care to their complexion.

Look at your complexion. Study it carefully. Observe whether it is soft and clear, and as beautiful with the natural beauty of health, as you would like to see it.

If it is dry and rough, or possibly wrinkled, or you are annoyed with unsightly eruptions, your skin needs a massage cream. In fact, whatever the condition, whether due to sun, dust or wind, unless it is in perfect condition you should use a soothing emollient, preferably Yara Massage Cream, the peer of all toilet creams.

The practice of massaging, or gently rubbing, the skin has become popular in all circles of society. The only explanation of the widespread popularity of this practice is that the art of massage has demonstrated that it has beneficial effects upon the skin, just as daily exercise has upon the whole body.

But massage does not accomplish the best results unless during its operation the hands are anointed with a softening emollient which will prevent all friction and irritation.

Yara Massage Cream is the ideal for this purpose and is a combination of the purest materials that can be obtained. It comes the nearest of anything now known to replacing the natural oil of the skin. It is entirely free from all substances that could in the least harm the most delicate skin, and absolutely will not promote growth of hair. It does not roll, but is quickly absorbed and is very nutritious to the skin tissues.

Give it a fair trial and you, no doubt will be like other ladies who have tried it and always keep it in your dresser as an exquisite toilet requisite for the proper care of your skin as well as a treatment for all ordinary skin annoyances which ladies have to contend with who desire to have their complexion look as beautiful as possible.

Recommended with full confidence that it has no equal, and guaranteed satisfaction or money refunded. You will find it on sale at all drug stores at fifty cents per large jar.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Grinding Corn For Hogs.
For the past nine years the Wisconsin experiment station has been conducting tests to determine whether grinding corn for hogs is desirable.
In the tests previous to 1903-04 middlings were fed with the corn. That year corn was fed alone, but the results were so unsatisfactory as regards thrift, appetite, gains and feed consumed per pound of gain that it was not considered desirable to omk middlings in subsequent years.
The results have varied a little from year to year, but considering the average of all the tests 17 hogs fed dry shelled corn and wheat middlings made an average gain of 96.8 pounds each, while an equal number fed cor-meal and wheat middlings gained 110.9 pounds each, the feed required per pound of gain in the two cases being 5.19 pounds and 4.88 pounds. The saving from grinding, therefore, has amounted to 5.7 per cent.

Shredding Corn In South.
Those who have been neglecting their corn fodder in the south would do well to heed the following advice from Southern Cultivator: Shredding corn is one of the economic problems of the farm. No farm should think of wasting anything that has food value.
The food problem is the greatest problem we have for solution. It is much larger than "king cotton." We must learn to grow and save food for plants, animals and people. To feed animals and thereby save the manure to feed our plants should demand our very best skill and efforts. Prepare to save your cornstalks.

Poultry on the Farm.
Farmers are coming to realize that nothing on the farm pays larger returns than poultry for the money and time invested. Therefore they are giving more and more attention to their poultry each year and seeking the best ways to improve their flocks. Many flocks are earning big profits for their owners, but these owners are men that give poultry the place on the farm that it should fill. The care of such flocks take thought, time and money, but they give ample return for each and all of these expenditures. Why not try it yourself?—M. L. Dawson in Successful Farming.

To Give Medicine to Horses.
Ordinary remedies can be administered to horses in the form of a drench by adding a pint of water or a ball by mixing with linseed meal and molasses and making a roll half an inch in diameter and two inches long. Harsh remedies should always be given in water, gruel or beaten up with an egg.

To make a horse eat medicine in a mash or in gruel, take some of the medicine and rub the horse's nose with it before you allow him to smell the grain. The smell of the medicine on his nose deceives him, and he will eat
the grain without any trouble.

Starting a Sheep Flock.
A successful sheep grower of wide experience says: The flock of twenty-five will yield better results per head than 100 and 100 better than 300.
There are a great many things about handling sheep that cannot be put on paper, nor learned through instruction, nor in any other way than experience.
We know of no business in which there are greater returns for the money invested than in this, and we know none which so absolutely requires that the right thing be done at the right time and in the right way, so don't start with too many.

Dry Corn For Sheep.
Dry corn gives better results than soaked corn for sheep owing to the better secretion of saliva in eating the dry corn. Oats make a satisfactory ration when given to fattening lambs, but it requires about 25 per cent more oats than corn for a given gain. It requires about twice as much corn as grain for lambs. Roots should be fed in combination with grain. A ration of equal parts of corn and oats or two parts of oats to one of corn, fed with roots, is an economical ration for fattening lambs.—Farm Progress.

Remedy For Hog Cholera.
Here is a good recipe for hog cholera which I wish you would publish, writes an Illinois farmer to Farm Progress. It's not a humbug remedy;
Wood charcoal, one pound; sulphur,
one pound; sodium chloride, two pounds; sodium bicarbonate, two pounds; sodium hypsulphite, two pounds; sodium sulphate, one pound; antimony sulphide, one pound. These ingredients should be completely pulverized and mixed. Dose, one tablespoonful to each 200 pound hog.

The Hen In Summer.
Summer is the time when the farm poultry makes up for lost time. Fresh eggs are in demand, too—in fact, they always are. Market often. It pays Feed milk to the laying hens. It contains just the ingredients for producing eggs. Biddy likes it, too, so give her plenty of it if you wish eggs.—

Chicago Grain Markets.
Chicago, July 24.—Wheat. Excessive rain in the southwest and lack of it in Manitoba had strengthening effect on the local market to day. In addition to unfavorable weather for crop in the winter wheat sections and parts of Canada, the market was bullishly affected by rumor Spain suspended exports of wheat. Small primary receipts and light country acceptance also increased the demand in local market. With exception of heavy tone for first few minutes trading due to lower cables and generally favorable weather in northwest, market was strong all day. Prices reacted slightly last half hour, but finished strong.
Cotton. Strong entire session. Increasing demand for cotton in the buying by commission houses for elevator interests. The chief bullish factor was the Iowa state crop bulletin, which said the crop of that state had suffered heavy loss of acreage by floods and by abandonment to weeds. Close was strong.

Trade. Small volume market showed only feeble response to upturn in wheat and corn. Number of reports received telling of improved appearance of the crop in the localities, these advices caused moderate liquidations. Close steady.

Mrs. William Risk, Neice of Alexander Armstrong of this City, Met with on Chautauqua Grounds—Others Suffered Shock.

Litchfield, Ill., July 24.—Twenty-five hundred people were thrown into a fatal panic last night at the grounds of the Litchfield-Hillsboro chautauqua when a furious electrical storm fell. Mrs. William Risk of Hillsboro was killed by lightning and several were seriously hurt.

Mrs. Risk, who is the wife of one of the ticket takers at the chautauqua, was standing at the ticket window, within five feet of her husband, when the stroke of lightning struck her and killed her instantly. Mr. Risk was stunned and regained consciousness only to find that his wife was dead.

Mrs. C. W. Bliss and son, Clinton Bliss, both of Hillsboro, were standing at the side of Mrs. Risk and were badly shocked. The son was blind for half an hour afterwards. Fletcher Beck and Herman Chalk were also injured, but not so severely as were the others.

The remains of Mrs. Risk were taken to Hillsboro. She was 45 years of age and is survived by her husband and two children, and two brothers, one of Hillsboro, and the other in the plumbing business in Springfield, Mo.

STOOD THROUGH RAIN

Governor Deneen Sought Shelter in Box Car—Crowd That Attended Lovejoy Celebration Got Soaked.

Those who attended the Lovejoy celebration at Greenfield Tuesday report the best part of the story of the day to have been lost in the telling and that the way in which the crowd stood along the railroad track amidst the weeds and grass while a deluge of rain fell upon them was the most interesting feature of the day. The rain that fell is reported to have been the heaviest in that part of the country for years and as the train that was to pick up the crowd was about thirty minutes late and no shelter in sight there was nothing else to do but to grin and bear it. Many queer stories are told one reporting that Governor Deneen was forced to seek shelter in a box car, but it is enough to say that it was a very ill humored crowd that sought the shelter of the north bound train Tuesday evening.

SOCIETY'S PET FLOWER.

Women of Smart Set In Rivalry Over Cultivation of Dahlias.

Whatever the shortcomings of the Four Hundred the members of this overadvised body cannot be charged with neglect of flowers, says the New York Press. It is a hopeful sign in a woman to find her fond of flowers, and women of the Four Hundred seldom have been seen in a happier light than at present, when they are engaged in rivalry over the cultivation of dahlias.

The dahlia is a common plant in Europe, in many parts growing wild. It is a rarer plant in the United States, and as it belongs almost exclusively in the greenhouse it has been developed to a beauty not approached in the most favorite spot abroad. There is some doubt as to the one who receives the credit for the sudden growth in popularity of the plant. The Vanderbilt conservatories are now stocked with it. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt has marked the dahlia as her favorite flower, and so with Mrs. Clarence Mackay. Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney is another lover of the dahlia, chiefly because of its rainbow tints and its rare value for decorative purposes.

Mrs. Mackay seems to have the lead in the friendly rivalry just now, for she has a dozen plants of truly surpassing beauty. The hearts of the flowers are of variegated brown, with the long, soft, golden petals tapering off to white. The secret of the variety belongs alone to Mrs. Mackay and the Mackay horticulturist, and the Mackay country place in Roslyn finds an adornment even more alluring than the dahlia effects in the Vanderbilt and Whitney homes.
